

Indiana Marriages, 1845-1920

What Can I Find in the Indiana Marriages, 1845-1920 Database?

This database indexes marriages for 71 of the counties indexed by the Works Progress Administration. The WPA began to index vital records, county-by-county for the entire state, but the agency was abolished before the indexing was completed.

Some marriage records were lost simply because they were forgotten or misplaced between the time of the event and the next time the minister was at the county seat to register a marriage. Try checking nearby counties, and if you know the date of the wedding, keep in mind that it might not have actually been filed for months or years after that date.
